Your advertising in the Japanese CoinsWeekly

The Japanese market is considered one of the most attractive numismatic markets in the entire world. It is a market for collectors and investors, as many Japanese consider numismatic rarities and gold coins to be an ideal way to pursue their interest in history while making a profitable investment at the same time.

Many of you know that it is difficult to enter this interesting market. What is missing is an independent publication in Japanese informing Japanese collectors about new issues from the world of collecting and all auction sales that take place in this context. We are filling this gap. Since January 2022 you find the Japanese version on coinsweekly.com.
